

ANNUAL WRITING CONTEST

In the UN's International Year of Moderation, the English Department is launching the annual writing contest under the motto 'Are you in control or under control?' Our goal is to reflect upon the excesses of humankind in present's day society. We would like you to write either a composition or a story that shows a critical view on the situations described in each group stage. These are just proposals but you can let your imagination run riots. Don't put a limit to your writing skills. The best ones in every category will be awarded a prize and the honour of being published in the year book. For further information, talk to your English teacher. Deadline: February 28th.

1º & 2º ESO "TECHNOLOGY"

Are you playing Fortnite for too long? Is your cell phone your dearest friend? Are social media the best places to meet? Are you replacing real life for virtual reality? Do you prefer playing another video game to meeting your friends? Are you in control or under control?

3º & 4º ESO "HEALTH & LIFESTYLE"

Do you think that the Mediterranean diet consists in eating seafood? Is the PE class the only exercise you do? Are sweets replacing sandwiches in your school breaks? How many pieces of fruit do you eat daily? Are you turning into a couch potato? Are you in control or under control?

1º & 2º BACHILLERATO "PARTYING"

Is going out just an excuse to drink booze? Is wild partying a necessary step to maturity? Do you feel misplaced in a binge drinking? Are you the weirdo in your group because you don't go out until small hours? A party without alcohol or weed is no party? Are you in control or under control?

Are you in control or under control?
